SPECIFICATIONS

Does it really make such a difference?

From the cold northern climates to the hot conditions of the tropics, 80% of all sectional garage doors produced in the world today are insulated. In fact, Australia is one of the last markets to embrace the insulation of the garages doors, yet our garages are some of the largest in the world. Feedback from the customers who have installed Thermopanel, is that not only do they reduce the temperature ingress regardless whether hot or cold, they also minimize the outside noise penetration and look cleaner inside and out. Pests also have no chance to nest due to the frameless construction and no sharp internal edges. Thermopanel has much better impact resistance due to the foam density and coupled with fire rated side and top seals, provide excellent fire protection.

What about the motor?

We only use premium belt drive motors on our installations. These are quieter and complement the garage door perfectly.
